

AROUND THE VILLAGE

January 2019

THANK YOU for helping us celebrate our 9th Birthday! With your support, we are able to provide continued services for low-income and vulnerable seniors in northeast San Francisco. We look forward to a wonderful year with lots of opportunities to connect and engage.

If you haven't already, please join NEXT this year. (Sustaining members can join for $600, and that membership is tax deductible!). Folks with limited resources can join for as little as $120.

If you know of someone who would benefit from the help of our volunteers or who might be looking for something new to do and new friends to do it with, please tell them about NEXT. The more the merrier!

As we welcome in this new year, I'd like to begin with a shout-out to all our AWESOME volunteers! Whether you've been with us for years, or are new to NEXT Village, you are the key to making our organization work. We are so very grateful for the time and love you share with NEXT members throughout the year. Whether you're a wheelchair pusher, walking partner, reader, friendly visitor, phone caller, driver, computer guru, envelope stuffer, event helper, or any of the other wonderful, caring roles assumed by our volunteer pool, we couldn't continue to help our neighborhood seniors without your kindness and dedication.

We look forward to a New Year full of new friendships and fun times together!

1965 1hr 40 min Black and White 1/16/19.

Sid Says...

Lemmy Caution (the expatriate American actor, Eddie Constantine) enters Alphaville, a totalitarian state on a planet in another galaxy, by posing as a journalist. Its absolute ruler is Professor Von Braun, inventor of the powerful computer, Alpha 60, which he uses to control the state. Unlike other sci-fi movies, Kubrick's 2001, for example, Godard forgoes any special effects, instead using an everyday setting, in this case, nocturnal Paris and the city's new steel and glass curtain architecture. With high-contrast lighting and marvelous camera movement, cinematographer Raoul Coutard turns the City of Light into a city of darkness and murderous intrigue, as Caution tries to assassinate von Braun and destroy the devilish computer. His guide is Natacha von Braun (Anna Karina), daughter of the evil genius, who proudly shows him executions of people who have behaved irrationally, any expression of feelings being a flaw punishable by death.

As Natacha spends more time with this spy from the “outerlands,” a reincarnation of a B-movie hero, he gradually teaches her words like “conscience” and “love” that long ago were redacted from Alphaville’s dictionary, like all words dealing with emotion. Through it all, Caution acts the part of the hard-boiled detective, deftly flicking open his Zippo lighter, clicking away with his Kodak Instamatic, and sporting the obligatory tough guy trench coat and fedora. Whenever necessary, he deftly dispatches his foes with knuckles or gat, but in true comic book style—no blood here. Exactly how Caution intends to drive his 1960s car into the interstellar world of his home planet is at film’s end unexplained, but the story and characters are so engaging, you won’t much care. This strange adventure of Lemmy Caution will, however, get you thinking about our tech-gadget dominated world of today. Godard was on to something, as he often is.

LGBTQ News: SF makes LGBT band official. (From SF Bay Times)

For its first performance as the city's official band, the San Francisco Lesbian/Gay Freedom Band played the city's official ballad "I Left My Heart in San Francisco," written by a deceased gay couple, and the official city song "San Francisco." Twenty-two members of the 40-year-old band performed on the steps under City Hall's rotunda shortly after Mayor London Breed signed into law the ordinance designating the musical group as the city's official band for perpetuity. "Today we make the unofficial official band official," said Breed, a French horn player in the Benjamin Franklin Middle School Band that performed at various public events during Dianne Feinstein's mayoral administration.

Breed presented the pen she used at the December 18 signing ceremony to gay District 8 Supervisor Rafael Mandelman, who introduced the ordinance on behalf of the band. It was his first piece of legislation to be signed into law since joining the Board of Supervisors in July.

"The arts have played such an important role for the LGBT community and the larger San Francisco community," said Mandelman, noting that the band in particular has helped with "getting us through the tragedies of the last 40 years."

If you are an LGBT senior in northeast SF, please give us a call. We're happy to have you as a member!

老人最在意的那些事

步入晚年，老人生活重心慢慢转移，关注点也有所改变，有些事，老人确实越来越在意了。

身心健康。随着年纪的增长，老人越来越觉得健康最重要。

老人家一方面注意身体健康，积极锻炼；另一方面还要保持乐观心境，遇事劝自己看开点。

子女平安。“平安是福”是很多老人挂在嘴边的话。人至暮年，自身事务减少，老人自然会将焦点放在子女身上。

家庭团聚。尤其是独守“空巢”的老人，他们特别期待“儿孙绕膝”的快乐。作为儿女，应尽可能常回家看看。

出行旅游。“世界那么大，我想去看看。”大部分身体健康的老人都希望能趁着身子骨还硬朗的时候出去走走。大量研究表明，常出去旅游、接触自然的老人，身体更健康，而总宅在家里，不愿多走动的老人易患各种疾病。

勤俭节约。勤俭是种美德，但如果这些观念不利健康，子女们就应该多开导，平时多从小处着手，从行为上帮助老人改变。例如老人认为抹布破了烂了才要换，但这不利于健康，子女可以定期更换，长此以往，老人就能养成习惯。

形象与价值。人都希望被认同，老人更是如此。年岁渐大，保持形象和成就感对维持老人健康的心态十分重要。

疾病与死亡。上了年纪的人总爱念叨“健健康康活着，死时别受罪”。老年人在听闻某些疾病后，往往是下意识把病往自己身上套。要想办法帮老人排遣消极情绪，比如营造更加温暖的家庭氛围，帮助老人回忆过去有趣的事，将老人身心向积极方向转化。

From the Director:

We had a bang-up year at NEXT Village. In spite of our issues with the Department of Aging and their new rule that everyone must pay at least $120 to belong to NEXT, with your support, we held fast to commitment to serve as many seniors as we could regardless of income. We pushed back many times, but so far have not gotten them to change their position. We also worked extremely hard to have some funds from the Board of Supervisors to cover those low-income members, but in the end, the funds went to another non-profit. Tough break for us. We'll be back in 2019 seeking funds that bring our city-funds more in line with the other two Villages in SF. In the meantime, we are grateful for the support of people like you that recognize the value of our work.

That's it for now. Happy New Year, and I'll see you in January, and Around The Village.
